Does Zambia need more energy?

While developed nations look to decarbonize, countries in sub-Saharan Africa, including Zambia, will need significantly more energy to power a high-growth society and achieve development goals. The vast majority of Zambia's population is comprised of smallholder farmers, producing 80 percent of the country's agricultural production.

Does Zambia have a good electricity mix?

There are notable low-hanging fruits in the development of Zambia's electricity mix. While Zambia has the potential to generate 2,300 MW of solar and 3,000 MW of wind, only 76 MW of solar has been installed and no wind power to date.

Is Zambia a high prospect for low-carbon energy investments?

A few notable investments and memoranda of understanding (MOUs) have been announced by key partners from around the world, positioning Zambia as a high prospect for low-carbon energy investments and unlocking opportunities to deliver investments in 24/7 clean electricity systems necessary to power industrial activity such as minerals processing.

How can Zambia close the energy poverty gap?

Recognizing the need to diversify Zambia's energy grid, the government has been working towards securing private sector investment to deploy solar projects throughout the country to close the energy poverty gap.
